

This ability for people to be able to access community unlicensed broadcast band access is vital to the well being of democracy. Free speech cannot happen between people when they are restricted to purely licenced means of communication.